Cynical People Not Happy Imposed On Them

HUMAN FRAILTIES

Tendency of The Privileged Class To Indulge In Extravagance

Marshal Tito's one-man government in Yugoslavia is shot through with waste, mismanagement and extravagance, and the people are becoming discontented with the ruthless police state measures of his regime. The glaring inefficiencies are described in the following article by Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service. It is second in a series of four on "Tito-The Red Riddle."

They are the admissions of Tito himself, made to the opening session of the new puppet parliament of Yugoslavia.

An Iowa chicken born with four legs is Brannan's newest problem . . . he doesn't know whether to extend double price support or let her stand on her own four feet.

Meanwhile if you care for turkey, the government has 97 million pounds which was a little too high-priced to eat last Christmas but just right to tax you for.

It has got to be disposed of by the end of the month and the only answer looks like a June first Thanksgiving.

If a summer - Thanksgiving idea confuses the president someone could remind him there was a time we had two in the winter season.

For a couple of years we didn't know which Thursday was Thanksgiving and the only people who didn't care were those who couldn't afford to eat on any Thursday.

The next regular Thanksgiving has already been spoken for . . . we've been told in advance whom to thank for all that is good in America.

But most voters are still at sea, and Mr. Truman's new definition does not help them much. An "obstructionist," he says, is one who votes against the best interests of the people. But who determines what the people's best interests are? In the President's book they must include such matters as a repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, free spending by govern- selves against fluctuation, sickness, ment, compulsory health insur- etc." ance, and handouts to, minority groups. Otherwise he would not ing processes of production, has have campaigned for them so considerably increased production vigorously and so consistently.

either rejected these proposals or refused to entertain them, it has to be assumed that most Senators and Representatives are what the President calls "obstructionists" and against the best interests of the people. That, of course, is a libel on the great majority of the members of Congress-men who are no less devoted than Mr. Truman to the welfare of the nation 50 and many of whom are not only superior to him in intelligence and understanding but are not handicapped by his peculiar political associations.

RECORD AUTO OUTPUT

There is no business like the automobile business. The automobile industry, having set an alltime production record last year, will greatly exceed last year's mark in 1950, despite the protracted Chrysler strike, unless the UMW engages in new deviltry.

Production of autos is setting new records weekly and is shooting for the 200,000 mark. Until two weeks ago, the record for any week was 160,000, a figure reached in one week in July, 1949.

This production of motor vehicles has not resulted in dealers being overstocked with cars, except in the cases of one or two smaller companies. More and more plants and assembly plants are being put on overtime to meet the demand of dealers for more Business prognosticators, who on several occasions since the war have set a date for slowing up of automobile production, seem to have given up. None now predicts that there will be a slump in demand for cars in the near future. And price reductions seem to be no longer expected by anyone, in or out of the industry.

If there is a slackening in demand for automobiles later, lower prices would not be realistic in the face of $15 a day wages for auto workers.

Kansas City's centennial cele bration will open with a square dance, an event from which some of the local politicians will be auto matically barred.

Important!

Alma Kreamer is shown making the hand symbol for "important." This is one of many signs she uses in her volunteer work of helping to teach others how to use symbols as a means of communication. In such work, this sign language is mighty important.

For the rest of us, the telephone is a mighty important means of communication. Alma's steady job as an information operator is helping customers secure telephone numbers not yet listed in the directory. And she realizes, as do the more than thirty thousand other men and women employed by Bell Telephone in Pennsylvania, the importance of good telephone service to the people of this state.

FALLEN ARCHES?

The condition commonly known as "weak arches" may, if ignored, seriously disable a person. The height of the arch is not an indication of the degree of disability in such cases, it should be borne in mind that every important structure in the foot becomes damaged when this disorder occurs. Never neglect it. If a chiropodist sees this condition soon enough he will be able to keep it from reaching the serious stage. When the disorder is of long standing extensive treatment may be necessary to correct it.

Flat feet or weak feet are often brought on by improper use of the feet, undue strain, or certain systemic ailments. Typical symptoms are:

symptoms are:

1-Shoes rapidly lose their shape,

2 Swelling of the feet and ankles.

3—Pain in feet, ankles, legs, knees, hip and back—usually getting more severe toward the end of the day.

4-A feeling of stiffness in the joints, feet and legs.

5-A tendency to toe out when standing or walking. 6—Excessive perspiration of the feet and fatigue of the entire body.

Home remedies which can be recommended for "weak foot" are appropriate foot exercises and proper shoes. If appliances are necessary (they frequently are not) a chiropodist should advise regarding the kind which will be best for each individual case.
